ICDAR 2011 Awards - Call for Nominations

The ICDAR Award is designed to recognize individuals who have made outstanding contributions to the field of Document Analysis. Every 2 years, 2 awards categories are presented.

- Young Investigator Award (less than 40 years old)
- Outstanding Achievements Award.

Nominations are invited for the 2011 ICDAR Awards in both categories.

- Nominations Due: June 15, 2011

More details, please visit web on <http://www.icdar2011.org/EN/column/column34.shtml>

Call for Proposals to Host ICDAR 2015

The ICDAR Advisory Board is seeking proposals to host ICDAR 2015: The 13th International Conference on Document Analysis and Recognition.

- Deadline: June 1, 2011
- Submission Method: email to lopresti@cse.lehigh.edu

Any consortium interested in making a proposal to host an ICDAR should first familiarise themselves with the "Guidelines for Organizing and Bidding to Host ICDAR" document which is available on the TC10 and TC11 websites. A link to the most current version of the guidelines appears below:

http://www.iapr-tc11.org/mediawiki/images/ICDAR_Guidelines_2011_04_04.pdf

The submission of a bid implies full agreement with the rules and procedures outlined in that document.

It has been the tradition that the location of ICDAR conferences follows a rotating schedule among different continents. ICDAR2011 will be held in Beijing, China (Asia), and ICDAR2013 will be held in Washington, DC (the Americas). Hence, for ICDAR2015, proposals from Europe are strongly encouraged, however, high quality bids from other locations will also be considered.

Proposals will be examined by the ICDAR Advisory Board. Valid bids will then be presented at the TC10/TC11 joint meeting held during ICDAR2011, where a ballot will be conducted to determine the winning bid.

Doctoral Consortium - ICDAR 2011

A Doctoral Consortium is organized in conjunction with ICDAR 2011. It provide review opportunity for Ph.D. students of their research ideas. A special poster session will be open to present an overview of their research ideas & plans. A mentor will be assigned to each student to provide individual feedback.

Participations are limited to 25.

Session Date: Sunday, Sept. 18 before ICDAR open.

More details, please visit: <http://www.icdar2011.org/EN/column/column39.shtml>
